Respondent. )

Despite the inactivity regarding the complaint at this Commission, the Complainants explain that issues regarding compensation to payphone providers that are the subject of the complaint have been addressed over the past seven years by the FCC. The FCC has not yet resolved those issues, but the Complainants are hopeful that a resolution may be forthcoming soon. The Complainants further explain that the Commission cannot effectively address the issues raised in the complaint until the FCC makes its ruling.

On August 22, 2011, at the request of the parties, the Commission formally suspended this complaint until February 17, 2012, to allow further time for the FCC to act. The FCC has not yet acted, but on February 16, the Complainants filed another motion requesting a further 180-day suspension of the complaint.

Based on the Complainants' motion, the Commission will suspend proceedings regarding this complaint until August 15, 2012.

THE COMMISSION ORDERS THAT:

1. Proceedings in this complaint case are suspended until August 15, 2012, or until further order from the Commission.
2. This order shall become effective immediately upon issuance.
