

BIG RIVER RESPONSES TO AT&T'S FIRST AND SECOND REQUESTS FOR ADMISSIONS

Request for Admission No. 8 of AT&T's First Request for Admissions directed to Big River: A portion of the traffic you delivered to AT&T Missouri for termination since February 5, 2010, originated with customers to whom you provided service pursuant to your Missouri P.S.C. Tariff No. 1.

Big River's August 20, 2012 Response: Admitted.

Request for Admission No. 9 of AT&T's First Request for Admissions directed to Big River: Big River's subscribers can place a non-local voice telephone call to AT&T Missouri's subscribers without activating the program to begin recording mid-call and store the recording for later access via phone or email. See Complaint ¶ 28.

Big River's August 20, 2012 Response: Admitted.

Request for Admission No. 10 of AT&T's First Request for Admissions directed to Big River: Big River's subscribers can place a non-local voice telephone call to AT&T Missouri's subscribers without configuring their incoming call manager, or viewing, configuring, or managing their call-handling options. See Complaint ¶ 29.

Big River's August 20, 2012 Response: Admitted.

Request for Admission No. 12 of AT&T's First Request for Admissions directed to Big River: When a Big River subscriber configures his or her incoming call manager through a Big River web portal, that communications session does not consist of a telephone call placed by the Big River subscriber to one of AT&T Missouri's subscribers.

Big River's August 20, 2012 Response: Admitted.

Request for Admission No. 14 of AT&T's First Request for Admissions directed to Big River: When a facsimile is converted to PDF format and forwarded to a Big River subscriber's email address, that communications session does not consist of a telephone call placed by the Big River subscriber to one of AT&T Missouri's subscribers.

Big River's August 20, 2012 Response: Admitted.

Request for Admission No. 15 of AT&T's First Request for Admissions directed to Big River: Big River's subscribers can place a non-local voice telephone call to AT&T Missouri's subscribers without accessing the latest GoogleNews from their telephone or obtaining other information via the web.

Big River's August 20, 2012 Response: Admitted.

Request for Admission No. 1 of AT&T's Second Request for Admissions directed to Big River: The traffic Big River delivered to AT&T Missouri, between January of 2010 and the present, over the interconnection trunks established pursuant to the parties' interconnection agreement ("ICA") originated with Big River's end-user customers.

Big River's December 20, 2012 Response: Admitted.

Request for Admission No. 5 of AT&T's Second Request for Admissions directed to Big River: Between January of 2010 and the present, the traffic that Big River delivered to AT&T Missouri over the interconnection trunks established pursuant to the parties' ICA included calls that originated from Big River customers located in different local calling areas than the call recipients.

Big River's December 20, 2012 Response: Admitted.