

I would like to wish the commissioner's a good day and explain that, because I have a broken leg, Toni Wiseman has kindly agreed to read my statement.

My name is Darlys Bremer. I live at 24305 S. Harper Rd. and have lived here since January 1, 1970 and in the community since 1967.

Before this whole thing started, if anyone had asked me if I wanted an electric facility across the road from me, I would probably have said no. In retrospect, I can think of no better place for it. It immediately abuts relatively few people, and is adjacent to a gas pumping station that was established in the mid 1950's.

I have watched this plant being built, carefully landscaped and maintained. I've seen the efforts Aquila has made to become good neighbors. More than the obvious things, in this neighborhood, pavement and trees, are the things they have done, and are still doing, in and for the surrounding community. I particularly appreciate the fire hydrants which not only made my home safer but lowered my Homeowners' insurance premiums.

The projected growth of Peculiar and the surrounding area will continue to fuel the ever growing demand for electricity. I believe there is a need for this facility, and the future will probably require more like it.

We, people as a whole, tend to say "why me". In this case "Why does it have to be close to me". The fact is, it has to be close to someone. And, while it might not be the view I would prefer, I happen to be addicted to the comforts electricity affords me including central air and heat, television, refrigeration, etc. In 2004, when Osage Valley browned out, I appreciated that Aquila was there to back them up. I listen to people complain and I wonder how many of them would like to do without those comforts. One woman said that she remembered coal oil lamps and wood stoves. I too remember those and it makes me even more grateful for my 'addictions'.

I sincerely hope you, as the Missouri Public Commission, can find a way for Aquila to remain at the South Harper location.

Thank you
Darlys Bremer

Hearing Exhibit No. 1

Date 3-20-06 Case No. EA-2006-0309

Reporter _____

I am here today to support the operation of the South Harper plant. I can't believe any logically minded person would suggest tearing down a brand new 315 MW plant when we hear that Cass county is the fastest growing county in the area. Except for readiness testing this plant might not be cranked up for months. The July -August air conditioning season could cause sporadic operation. No one knows when an accident, malfunction or natural disaster might affect a near-by base unit. It would be nice to know that a backup plant could be on line in a few minutes compared the hours it takes to get a base load plant on line. I'm hoping the PSC can see through local politics and authorize use of this facility.

I am a registered Professional Engineer who has worked on the design of base load as well as peaking plants for 30 years. Few people know the complexity in the design of a power plant. The plans and specifications for a plant takes months even years. Then the purchase and delivery of the equipment takes many more months. Most of this before any construction starts

PARK BOARD OF PECULIAR

January 26, 2006

Dear Aquila,

I would like to thank you for your support of our community and parks. The new lights for the ball fields, you are working on installing, will be greatly appreciated. They will extend the ability of the ball games to be played at night, which has been needed for a long time. The community and the ball association of Peculiar, again, would like to say thanks for going above and beyond.

Rodney Argotsinger, President
Peculiar Park Board

Dear Missouri Public Service Commission:

I am a resident of Peculiar and an Aquila customer. I want the Aquila South Harper Plant to remain where it is located.

I have lived in Peculiar for 38 years and I have seen tremendous growth in the past several years, not only in Peculiar, but all of Cass County. We need the South Harper Plant to provide peak power when it is needed. Please allow this plant to remain where it is presently located.

Norma,

My family and I would like to say thank you for the generous donation to the fire department for the tornado warning sirens. Please thank Aquila on our behalf. There have been many a company move into our area and none of them are as willing to support our community. Aquila is truly a GOOD NEIGHBOR. I look forward to working with you in the future on other community projects. Please let me know if there is anything I can do to support your company.

Thanks again!

Subject: Keep the plant

Can you forward this email to the correct people to show how stupid it would be to tear down a plant that is up and working just because of a few people having a temper tantrum. There are tons of people in Cass County having brown and black outs, we need this plant and it is not hurting anyone. It would be a terrible disgrace for a everyone to lose this plant just for a few people. The Southern Star gas plant had been there for years, not a problem and some of the biggest complainers did not even know that was what it is, Aquila starts building and they went nuts. I hope the commission can see the benefits for Cass County and all the electrical needs and not cater to a few people that are off balance. Thank you for you time and help.

Letter:
Democrat Missourian
Feb. 10
Don A. Eberle
Freeman

I have a couple of bones to pick with the Cass County politicians. The power plant near Peculiar is an asset to the county. The property taxes on a $14(0) million is substantial. I helped design a power plant in Oklahoma where the property taxes helped build a concrete football stadium.

I have experienced with the situation in California. Each time the power company wanted to build a plant, the local residents resisted.

Consequently, they suffered brown-outs and blackouts. The power company got permission from Utah to build a plant there. Utah people got the jobs and the taxes. Transmission power losses to move power hundreds of miles was considerable, thus costing customers in California.

It is absolutely a stupid idea to allow politicians to require the power company to tear down this plant because a few local residents object. If this plant was coal-fired, the locals might have a leg to stand on. I have heard of no railroad spur being built, so I assume this plant is oil or gas fired, probably a simple cycle gas turbine.

Every year we all use more kilowatts than we did the year before. I am hoping that the state PSC uses more common sense than the Cass County politicians.

This letter is to serve two purposes:

- 1) Jim & Sheryl Troxell and Sonny & Linda Lawson need to apologize to the Bogner Family for placing their names on the previous letter prior to their knowledge. We misunderstood and hope that this will help in setting everyone straight.
- 2) Second, we would like to apologize to the StopAquila group for comments, which caused hurt, anger, and disappointment. Please be assured that these comments were not meant to be taken personally or literally, but were meant only as a figure of speech, a point of view or opinion. Those comments have been removed. We hope this letter will help set things straight.

Please accept this letter as a replacement.

To Whom It May Concern:

Some of us here in Millers Point are neither for nor against this issue, but would like to express our gratitude for your continued effort to make amends to this community and invest extra time and money in developing our ever-growing area. Aquila has done an excellent job in following through with plans of action as well as updating the neighbors every month and their continued efforts to satisfy continuous complaints.

At first our objections to this issue were the same as everyone else's. We feel that was mainly because it happened so quickly and came as such a surprise – not just to those close by, but for others both within and around the City of Peculiar. Although we do not claim to understand the politics that seem to surround this situation, and did not agree with the way things started out, Aquila has continuously tried to meet and exceed the expectations of everyone involved from the State of Missouri on down.

All 26 lots within Millers Point have 3 or more acres. There is only one house that can even see the plant. As for the other end – over half of them were building and moving in as the plant was being built. The noise is barely audible even when you approach the plant. The landscaping they did has improved the aesthetics of the plant greatly as well as the surrounding area around the plant.

Someone had to know about this major project or they couldn't have purchased the land it now sits on. It is hard to believe that no one knew anything. How were the contract workers, gravel trucks, road crew, etc. able to work – they had to have advanced notice, place bids and permits to event be on the site (didn't they?), as well as insurance to work on such a project. Are you telling us that the County, State or any other official had no clue this was going on?

The Williams Electric plant next to Aquila is far worse in appearance and sound than Aquila. At times you would think that the place was going to blow anytime when it would pop a gas leak. Talk about loud.

Maybe we owe StopAquila for a few of our improvements but certainly not all of them. Aquila putting landscaping in, fixing and paving roads, installing fire hydrants, and donating $83,000 for Warning Sirens were items they were planning on doing from the beginning.

Aquila has also supplied lights for a ball field, and has always be open for more suggestions on how they may improve our way of life out here. They have purchased home of those who did not want to stay.

They planted hundreds of trees in many of the resident's yards to block the view of the plant. Aquila also stepped up to the plate and paid all StopAquila's legal fees until recently and even paid to have their Web site developed and set up.

Aquila has had monthly Community Meetings at the plant, offers tours, and continuously asks what more they can do for our community. Some resident volunteers are working side-by-side with Aquila to accomplish most of the community improvements. Norm Dunn and Tom Miller deserve a big applause for an EXCELLENT job.

We say leave it alone and let's concentrate on working together and not against each other.

Thank you,

Jim & Sheryl Troxell
Sonny & Linda Lawson

March 10, 2006

Dear Commissioners:

Not too long ago I had to reset ALL the clocks in the house and realized we've got a lot of 'stuff' depending on electricity. Then I saw yard signs that say 'stop Aquila'. Asking why the only answer I got was 'its in my back yard' not we don't need it or such just 'its in my back yard' and they live in town. Anyway I looked a little farther.

Aquila was built in a logical spot. They use gas to fire the turbines (or whatever) and there was, and has been for years, a gas company at 243rd and Harper Road. Also they needed lines for the power generated and low and behold there were lines in the area that were run in the 1950's or sooner. And the location is kind of in the country, for now. As fast as Cass County is growing that won't be true for long.

Then I wondered how many Cass County residents would it take to screw in a light bulb? Using just Peculiar to figure this, and I'm not good at math so bear with me, I came up with the following.

The last census Peculiar had about 2,600 persons – planning another 2,500 homes which will reasonably hold 2 persons each that's 5,000 more and some will have at least the normal 2.5 children (lets say 2/3 as reasonable for this exercise) that's 4,170. Now we have approximately 11,770 people in Peculiar. That means televisions, air conditioners, dvd, and cd players, radios, computers, washers, dryers (and for total electric homes furnaces and etc.) and the clocks – can't forget the clocks.

At present in the summer when the 2,600 of us here now get stuff going we have little brown outs, from a few minutes to several hours. What happens when 11,770 more or less want to turn things on? California here we come – major brown outs.

I didn't want a fire station in my front yard or 70 houses in my back yard but that's called progress. We retired to the country, small town atmosphere, open pastures, fresh air and I'm sure that's what is bringing other folks here as well. Plus those with children like the school system. With progress comes change and the price of change includes the things needed to support those changes. Bigger water/sewer systems, more paved roads, more businesses and more electricity.

I've heard lots of things, reasons, for the fight with Aquila. Maybe errors were made by all concerned but now's the time to go back to the drawing board, suck it up and look at the future needs, or if not needs requirements.

Check utility bills and you'll find like I did electricity is the cheapest thing going.

Now back to screwing in the light bulb. If we let Aquila go the answer will be none, zip, zero, nada. Back to kerosene lamps and wind up clocks for Cass County.

Cass County is bigger than that and I know there is a solution. If we just calmly think about the long term it can be resolved reasonably and rationally and to the benefit of all, mainly me the consumer with lots of clocks.

Sincerely,

Dear Norma Dunn,

I am a Cass County resident and I am one hundred percent in support of keeping Aquil's South Harper Peaking Facility at its current location in rural Cass County, Missouri. The communities of Harrisonville, Missouri, Pleasant Hill, Missouri, Raymore, Missouri, and Peculiar, Missouri are building new housing developments and businesses which increases demand for more electric power.

This peaking facility is very much needed to keep up with the increasing demand of electric uses and to prevent possible "brown outs".

I live about one mile north east of the Pleasant Hill, Missouri Aquila facility and never hear noise from the plant.

Sincerely,

Ralph J. Klein

Dear Norma Dunn,

I am a Cass County resident and I am one hundred percent in support of keeping Aquil's South Harper Peaking Facility at its current location in rural Cass County, Missouri. The communities of Harrisonville, Missouri, Pleasant Hill, Missouri, Raymore, Missouri, and Peculiar, Missouri are building new housing developments and businesses which increases demand for more electric power.

This peaking facility is very much needed to keep up with the increasing demand of electric uses and to prevent possible "brown outs".

I live about one mile north east of the Pleasant Hill, Missouri Aquila facility and never hear noise from the plant.

Sincerely,

Roberta Klein

Dear Editor (Harrisonville, MO)
Democrat Missourian – 01-27-2006

Dear Editor:

Aquila is here. I have watched the power plant being built from day one. Now that it's here, I have found that all the stories of pollution and noise and the unsightly structure is all unfounded.

I have seen beautiful landscaping, excellent blacktop roads, over 25 fire hydrants installed and an early warning system for those residents that complained.

Several homes were bought from a few extremists who would not tolerate living near a power plant.

But they've bought homes and had been living in those same houses where a gas pumping station has been located since the 1950s.

I don't think they or any others have ever complained about that facility, which is next door to the new power plant.

Aquila has, and (if allowed to stay) will continue to bring thousands of dollars (if not millions) of improvements to the area.

Yes, I agree, and Aquila has admitted they made a big $140 million mistake by not getting proper approval. Now that it is here, I believe they should be allowed to stay and continue to be a good neighbor.

The contributions already outweigh a few disgruntled people who are probably the same types that honk and curse the construction workers who are trying to improve their highways.

The bottom line is who will pay for removal and relocation of this plant? You and I and anyone who uses electricity, $140 million to relocate, equals over a quarter billion.

Dear Missouri Public Service Commission:

Having considered all the pros and cons of an electrical generating facility in our neighborhood my wife and I sold 74 acres of farmland to Aquila to build a peaking plant. We based this decision on the following thoughts.

We have lived 44 years 500 feet from what is now known as the Southern Star Compressor Station a facility that increases the pressure of natural gas on a 12-inch and a 20-inch line crossing the property.

There are three large motors used to accomplish this task. In the years we have lived here raising our four children we have never had any complaint or regret for building our home in close proximity to this facility. Having experienced this good neighbor policy from Southern Star over the past years, we believed Aquila's generating plant would not pose a problem to the community.

We asked a well-known realtor in our area to evaluate the effect on property values the construction of Aquila's Plant might have on the surrounding property. It was their opinion there would be little or no effect do to the fact that all the homes within 1/2 mile of this location were built after the Southern Star Compressor Plant was built and the two facilities Southern Star and Aquila area approximately 500 feet apart.

We believe and have proved to ourselves in the year of operation by Aquila that there are not problems of noise or exhaust from this plant. Both Southern Star and Aquila run three motors use natural gas as their fuel and are under the same government agencies for regulation. We see no problems that will affect our lives or the lives of those in the area.

We live in contentment 1000 feet from this facility. It is maintained in a neat and orderly manner and the Aquila employees are friendly and have been good neighbors. We believe, as do many others this Aquila Peaking Plant is needed for the production of electricity in an area that is growing by leaps and bounds to protect ourselves from another California catastrophe.

Respectfully,

George & Maxine Bremer

Dear Sirs,

The Aquila South Harper Peaking Electric Plant is very much needed. In Cass County specifically Belton, Raymore, Peculiar, and Harrisonville we are having a tremendous amount of building. All of these houses require electricity for all the electronic devices we all just think we have to have, and to get that electricity we need this peaking plant.

There is not one person that when they turn on a light switch, air conditioner, DVD, computer, etc. that won't get very upset if the electricity is not there. The only way to eliminate this problem is to keep this peaking plant. I do understand that some people are upset about the way the plant was started, built, and handled; however I think we all need to look at the complete picture, there was everything Aquila needed to build this plant at this location without costing the customer a lot of cost to run lines for gas and transmission lines. Aquila did what most companies would do, found an area that had everything they needed so they could build the plant, and supply their customers with electricity. The Southern Star gas pumping station has been at this location since 1954; the same people that are complaining say that they really did not even notice that plant which makes me wonder if it is really a problem or just a cause. The people in Belton and Raymore that are having brown outs sure want to keep this plant. I hope that Missouri does not get in the same position as other states such as California that had people not want peaking plants around until there was no power, then everyone wanted one.

When you review this case I hope you see that yes both sides have issues, but the important thing to remember is progress brings the need for more gas, electricity, and water. We are progressing very quickly, needing more of each utility to fill supply and demand and because of that we need this peaking plant. Thank you for your time reviewing this issue.

Sincerely

Brenda Bremer

Dear Missouri Public Service Commission:

I am a resident of Peculiar and an Aquila customer. I want the Aquila South Harper Plant to remain where it is located.

I have lived in Peculiar for 38 years and I have seen tremendous growth in the past several years, not only in Peculiar, but all of Cass County. We need the South Harper Plant to provide peak power when it is needed. Please allow this plant to remain where it is presently located.
